

WE NOMINATE

David Stephen Lloyd Jr., a Princeton business and civic leader for "longer than I care to remember," whose distinguished record in the Borough's service has recently been culminated by still another five-year appointment to the Borough Housing Authority. Ever since the unsalaried six-man housing "commission" was brought into being, in 1938 to administer the 10-unit Franklin Terrace project, Lloyd has been its chairman, has dovetailed such added responsibilities with a variety of other activities and down through the years has played an influential role in the development of modern Princeton.

The 60-year old Lloyd, the grandson of the only son among seven to return to Princeton after soldiering for the Union during the Civil War, is a somewhat unique "older Princetonian" in that he believes implicitly in the "New Princeton," the community which has grown beyond all recognition in the past 20 years. Where some complain, and others pessimistically state that "Nassau Street will never be what Nassau Street was," Lloyd feels that the post-war era has brought "tremendous improvements" and points out that consolidation of Township and Borough is essential if both municipalities are to capitalize upon their combined potential.

It was some 48 years ago that Lloyd first went to work in Princeton—at age 13 and at a then munificent salary of $6.00 per 70-hour week. Some five years later, without benefit of high school diploma, he was named manager of the town's largest wholesale and retail grocery. He held forth in that capacity until 1951 when the firm was split, with Lloyd continuing at the wholesale level as president of F. A. Bamman, Inc. During that period, while increasing his business' annual volume by more than 1,000% and handling everything from buying to assembling "holiday baskets," Lloyd was elected to a three-year term as Borough Councilman, served for three successive years as President of Mercer Engine Company Number 3 and helped organize the Princeton Republican Club.

Lloyd, a former vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church and long before that a concert-giving soloist in the Trinity Choir, has succeeded in keeping the Housing Authority's eyes focussed on the future. In the late 1930's, it started out with the Lambert units (financed by Gerard P. Lambert), assumed control of the Ewing and Harrison Street tracts following World War II and a year ago pushed to completion the $700,000 John F. Hageman Homes, the 50-apartment venture that erased one of Princeton's "blighted areas." And, Lloyd reports, the Authority's application for 100 more similar units now lies on some Washington desk, where it will undoubtedly be shelved for the foreseeable future.

For helping perpetuate the basic American tradition of the citizen-volunteer; for radiating faith in this Community and in everything for which it stands; for looking ahead and insisting that Princeton Present must work for the benefit of the Princeton-to-Be, he is the Editors' nominee for

Across Two Centuries. Twice during this quiet summer the Rev. Dr. John V. Butler, Rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, has been signally honored. In late July he was officially installed as American Canon of the Diocese of Aberdeen and Orkney, Scotland, and only recently was appointed the Protestant Episcopal Church's one representative on the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Behind the Aberdeen service of installation (July 25th) lie some two centuries of tradition, for it was in the Cathedral of Aberdeen in the 1780's that the Rgt. Rev. Samuel Seabury, of Connecticut, was consecrated the first Episcopal bishop in America and the first Bishop in the Anglican Communion outside of the British Isles.

Following the founding of the American Republic, Seabury had been dispatched to England by the laity and clergy of Connecticut. He appealed to the Archbishop of Canterbury for recognition and for 16 long months nothing happened. Then the Episcopal Church of Scotland, with no ties to the British Crown, agreed to consecrate Seabury and helped bring the Protestant Episcopal Church in America into being.

Ever since then the Cathedral of Aberdeen has had two American Canons and, in view of Seabury's origin, the power of nomination to the lifetime honorary positions has understandably remained in the Diocese of Connecticut.

Dr. Butler, nominated by the Rgt. Rev. Walter Gray, Bishop of Connecticut, is the first clergyman outside of Connecticut ever to receive the distinction and the first American Canon to be installed at Aberdeen since the war.

Solid Accomplishments. On the threshold of his 25th year in the service of the Borough's Schools, Superintendent B. Woodhull Davis at the August meeting of the Board of Education presented a voluminous and convincing annual report which documented a period of solid accomplishment and reflected unbounded enthusiasm for the year ahead.

Mr. Davis noted that in 1952-53, even in what he terms "these difficult times," the Borough's Schools operated within their authorized budget, although the margin was $1,732.03, compared to an annual budget amounting to more than $730,000. The System's total cash balance as of July 1st came to $69,047.15, including outstanding assets of $2,862.00.

The Borough's school enrollment, listing ten "sending districts" as well as the Borough, climbed in 1952-53 to 1,948, an increase of 23 over the preceding year. This net gain represented a jump of 49 in the Elementary Schools and a decline of 26 in the High School, the latter being attributable to the withdrawal of the Lawrence Township Ninth Grade which now attends the newly established junior high school in that municipality.

Over the next several years, Mr. Davis said, the following enrollment trends can be expected: "A continued growth on the elementary level, quite heavy next year but diminishing in amount thereafter. A gradual increase in the resident borough enrollment, thus lowering the ratio between resident and non-resident school population. A slight increase in the high school next year, becoming more pronounced the two following years and each year thereafter, the exact condition being wholly dependent upon the withdrawal of certain districts which will be in a position to maintain high schools of their own."

Relating enrollment trends to existing facilities, Mr. Davis emphasized: "There is adequate space on the elementary level for the future," unless unexpected heavy population increase takes place. The secondary situation is another matter and must be resolved as Invest and Profit. Something new to Princeton—"income shares", offered as investment by Nassau Building and Loan. You, as a housewife, probably have a lot to say about the way your family invests its savings dollars. Why not consider these income shares for your future?

Shares may be bought for amounts ranging from $100 to $5000 (that's the limit, to any one customer.) Interest is 2½%, a tidy enough figure these days, and checks are mailed to investors twice each year.

When you're ready to buy, call on Mr. Arthur Everett at the First National Bank, 90 Nassau.

Baby on the Way? If so, you will not want to miss the opening of a new shop at 8 Tulane, called quite simply The Maternity Shop. September first, Tuesday, is the Shop's first day and if you'll stop by, you'll find everything you could possibly need for those all-important nine months.

The Shop belongs to Mrs. Henry W. Campbell, known in Princeton through her work in civic affairs, and will be run by her daughter, Miss Jane Campbell.

Opening as it does on the first of September, the shop will have mostly fallthings. But autumn can be warm sometimes, and so Mrs. Campbell has shrewdly laid aside some cotton washables—a two-piece suit in small red-and-black or blue-and-black print with white collar and dark skirt.

Almost all the clothes are two-piecers. We saw a handsome dress-up suit in black, and a street suit in deep powder blue. There are also velveteen jackets that could be worn any time after the baby has arrived.

We like the idea of blue jeans, pedal pushers and smocks. Lots of these in The Maternity Shop. Lingerie too, is on the shelves: regular and nursing bras, half slips, full slips, garter belts, and so on.

The price range is wide—from inexpensive through the line to "better grade". If you're not a Maternity Shop customer at the moment, tell someone you know about it.

A Lining for Your Bowl. Breaking the glass lining of a salt dish is almost as bad luck as spilling the salt. Did you ever try to replace one of those shattered linings? Maybe you have lost the use of sugar bowl, salt cellar or treasured vase because there is no more glass inside the silver filigree.

Somebody's ingenuity always seems to solve these problems. In this case, it's the inventiveness of someone who worked out plastic linings, much less breakable and much cheaper than the usual crystal ones.

The outlet for this work is The Silver Shop, 59 Palmer Square West. You take the container, tell the Shop what color you want the lining to be (deep blue, green, crystal, and so on), leave the candy dish or whatever and call for it in about two weeks. To give some idea of price—the average little salt dish will be about $3.50 to re-fit. Each lining, you see, is fitted especially into the basket that holds it; no two candy dishes are alike, apparently.

soon as the matter of consolidation has been decided."

These were among the recent "school developments" highlighted by Mr. Davis in his report:

- The near-phenomenal results obtained through the controlled first-grade reading program, a marked break with academic-lock-step procedures and now an integral part of the Nassau Street School's curriculum.

- The evolving program in the sphere of psychological-counseling, which in 1952-53 worked with 48 youngsters on specific adjustment problems and with 18 high school problems who sought help voluntarily.

So that the public might share the conclusions reached over the space of years by a high school principal, Superintendent Davis incorporated in his report the exhaustive analysis submitted by Harold A. Odell, High School Principal for the past seven years and now entering upon his first fall at Montclair High.

In concluding that Princeton High is a "unique educational institution," Mr. Odell made a number of compelling points, including the following:

- From the graduates of 1948-1952, a total of 378 entered 126 colleges in 28 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii.

- Over a four-year span, 1949-52, 82% of the graduates attending college averaged C or better, with 43% in the A's and B's.

- A recent IQ analysis of the High School's enrollment revealed that 0.1% of the students are in the Near Genius Group, 7% Very Superior.

Sourlanders Vote. The present township committee in nearby Hillsborough was upheld by a vote of 972 to 408 in Tuesday's special election, which saw more voters go to the polls than in last year's presidential contest. The 2½ to 1 defeat for the Community League, which had sought to institute the council-manager form of government, was even more resounding than was 11 to 7 margin a week ago in Montgomery Township on the same issue.

The league's 408 votes, set against the 1,128 signatures that were obtained on a petition protesting against the entrance of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing into the area, showed clearly that a great number of residents who do not want quarrying and industrial activity also do not wish to have their traditional form of government changed.

The present situation: at the regular September meetings, the Hillsborough committee will hold a public hearing at the second reading of the ordinance to rezone for industrial use the residential and agricultural acreage which 3-M has optioned, and a similar ordinance is expected to be introduced by the Montgomery committee.

Members of both community leagues still feel that public opinion is with them on the rezoning issue, at least, but now their courses of action are even more cloudy. Unless the governing bodies do a totally unanticipated turnabout and allow an advisory referendum, court injunctions are probably the next step, but only if sufficient cause can be established.

Questions for Princetonians to ponder: will the entrance of heavy industry to the immediate north cut off one of the most attractive paths for residential expansion? and will it be the first wedge for further industrialization of this area?

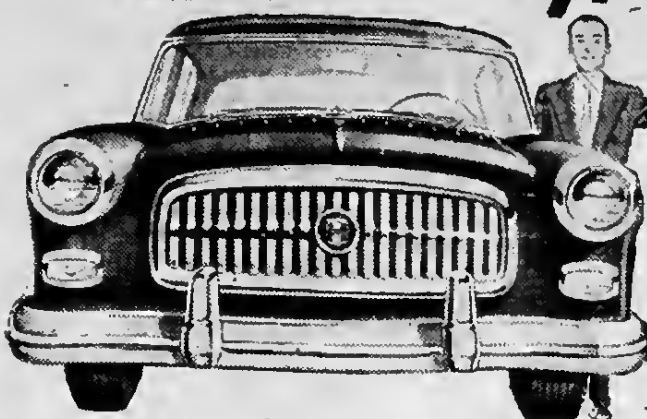

To The Point. All of the official comments evoked by the disturbing confirmation of the Soviets' claim to having exploded a hydrogen bomb have been placed in their proper perspective by an eminent Princetonian, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Director of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Looking ten years ahead to future atomic bomb development, Dr. Oppenheimer recently wrote: "The very least we can conclude is that our twenty-thousandth bomb, useful as it may be in filling the vast munitions pipelines of a great war, will not in any deep strategic sense offset their two-thousandth."

Korean Hero. Lt. Frederick E. Hilliard, U.S.M.C., who was hospitalized back to the United States early last winter and still has a long stretch ahead of him in the

U. S. Naval Hospital, St. Albans, N. Y., has been recommended for the Nation's highest military decorations, according to word relayed to Town Topics this week.

The modest 27-year old officer, a native of North Jersey and now here on sick leave with his wife and parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin L. Pusey, 13 Bank Street, was seriously wounded in Korea in mid-December, after his rifle platoon (1st Regiment, 1st Marine Division) had conducted a successful raid on bloody Frisco Hill.

Wounded in the assault, he remained on his feet and led his squads to the objective. On the way down, carrying a dying rifleman on his back, Hilliard stopped two grenades and saw his men to safety.

On crutches for the past nine months, and with the end not yet in sight, Hilliard's plans call for applying for admission to Princeton as soon as the "medics say go ahead."

"Something New!" A new, and possibly unique approach to the always intriguing problem of "Knowing Thy Neighbor Better" is being attempted in two different areas in the Princeton Community under the direction and sponsorship of the Princeton Y.M.C.A.

Throughout September, in both the general "University Place Area" and the Rosedale Community, a series of "Family Play-Nites" has been projected. Residents of the former will gather Wednesday evenings on the Seminary Grounds (corner of Alexander and College Roads), while the Rosedale community assembles Tuesday evenings on the Rosedale Chapel grounds.

Both programs, running from 6:00 until 8:00 p.m., are designed for one and all—from toddlers to octogenarians—and include miniature golf, checkers, puzzles, dart throws, softball, volley ball, badminton, horseshoes, quoits and paddle tennis.

Sidewalk Warnings. Some 375 letters advising citizens that their sidewalks are in need of repair or improvement have been mailed out by the borough engineering department this summer. The letters are designed as warnings, but the department has pointed out that a re-inspection will be made in the near future and legal notices will be served on all owners of property with dangerous sidewalk conditions.

I. Russell Riker, Borough Engineer, also reported that 26,155 feet of lines and curbs have been painted on Borough streets this summer. The west curb of Alexander Street has been moved to widen the street and a new sidewalk is now being laid.

Work on Cedar Lane and Library Place brings the Borough's street improvement program nearer to completion, Mr. Riker announced. The campaign, which was initiated in 1935 and has cost approximately $175,000 (90 per cent from state funds), has meant the leveling, realigning and surfacing with semi-permanent bituminous concrete of more than eight miles of street. Only a few miles remain to be completed, he reported.

Newarkers in Trouble. Police nabbed David Glover, 33, of Newark speeding down Nassau Street at 70 mph in the early hours last Sunday, but that was only the beginning. Mr. Glover could not establish ownership of the car, so a stolen car report was sent out to the police in Newark.

Jesse L. Marshall of that city was told where he could find his missing car, but before he had arrived, the Newark force sent word ahead that Mr. Marshall was wanted there on several warrants for traffic charges. Mr. Marshall —Continued on Page 7 be far behind? Of course not. Go to The Joan Shop, 63 Palmer Square West, and you can buy everything you need for fall and winter, from a Vanity Fair slip (an $8.95 copy of their own $12.95) right to an orlon greatcoat.

IT'S NEW TO US

We liked a navy alpaca coat, lined with navy taffeta that shone with silver diamonds. Alpaca has been used also to line storm coats all the way: right to the cuffs, right to the hem for plenty of warmth.

A truly warm winter suit looks like modified poodle cloth. It's navy with a heavy skirt you could wear in all weather, and jacket to match. That jacket would be a fine topper, come spring. The suit is $49.95. Other heavy jackets have skirts in lighter weight, colors like toast, pale aqua and so on.

Slit, neat, and grey flannel—a suit to make any woman look like a junior. A minute line of red at the cuffs and yoke, and two red ribbon bows at the yoke's edge.

To go with these, every kind of blouse you could imagine, from cotton to wool jersey and back again, including a cotton flannel by Lanz and a magnificent Oxford cloth by Bobby Brooks for only $3.95.

Bobby Brooks makes a circle of red felt into a skirt. And just for your own good time, here's an envelope of felt cut-outs—flowers and leaves in different colors for you to scatter as you will over the red background of the skirt. For $17.95.

Winter cotton in light grey has been used for a straight skirt trimmed with black braid and big black buttons. The price sets it apart—only $6.95. You can have it in navy, too.

Winter cotton dresses are quilted (like the two-piece polished cotton suit) or plain; Lanz makes them, as before, with children's sizes to go along. Wait'll you see a size two in cotton flannel.

To round it all out—don't forget to look at the knit suits—boucle in hunter green or navy, zipped down the back or buttoned down the front. And there's your fall outfit.

Put Away the Needles? Well, you'd never find The Knitting Shop asking you to do that. But it has begun to carry a line of hand-loomed knit dresses at 6 Tulane in case your knitting ambition stops at a scarf.

These two-piece dresses, hand-loomed and hand-finished, come in many styles. We saw a classic two-piece suit in a red and black mixture, straight plain skirt, reversed jacket bound in a black crochet that was put on by hand. Its price—$69.95.

Wool and orlon in a champagne color make a sunburst top with black that shows through the sunhursts. Skirt is ribbed. Another ribbed skirt looks like a plenteed skirt; it's in dark grey with a short-sleeved blouse that has a light grey yoke ending in a turtle neck. A touch of white orlon outlines the yoke.

Another ribbed skirt comes in a daring red, its blouse picked out around the collar in deep navy crochet.

Some new sweaters in this shop are shrink-resistant 100% virgin wool, in dusky shades of rose, Sandringham and grey. Cardigans are classic; slippers have a small petal collar.

For your own knitting, lots of new trims in the showcase at 6 Tulane. White pearl beads to outline a neck. Individual motifs of all kinds, sequins, and separate pearls in every shape from the tear-drop on up (or is it down?).

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness since the death of husband and father, Edwin A. Downs, Sr. Also for their kind expressions of sympathy, beautiful floral tributes, and those who served as bearers.

The New Jersey Poll
NEW JERSEY ELECTORATE
OVERWHELMINGLY OPPOSED TO CUTTING ARMED FORCES

Rank-and-file New Jersey citizens are overwhelmingly opposed to cutting down on the size of our Armed Forces now that a cease-fire in Korea has been arranged.

More than seven out of every eight people questioned in today's statewide survey personally told the Princeton Research Service's New Jersey Poll staff reporters that they do not think we should cut down on the size of our Armed Forces at the present time.

Only eleven in a hundred favor such action.

In other words, by a more than eight to one margin, New Jersey voters are opposed to any cuts in the size of our Armed Forces.

Highlight of today's survey findings is that opposition to reducing the nation's military strength cuts clear across political party lines.

Just about seven out of every eight Republicans, Democrats, and Independents questioned are not in favor of cutting down on the size of our Armed Forces.

Worthy of particular mention, too, is that in each single population group examined, at least 83 in every 100 say they are opposed to reductions in our military strength.

These groups include men and women, and people in all city sizes, age groups, occupations, and educational levels, as well as Democrats, Republicans, and Independents.

The views of many in the state are summed up in the following typical verbatim comments:

"We've got to be vigilant and strong. It's the only way to get along with Russia."

"If we reduce our Armed Forces now, we'd only be playing into the hands of the Commies. It's just what Russia wants us to do."

When New Jersey Poll staff reporters personally asked a representative cross-section of the state's voters:

"Now that a cease-fire has been arranged in Korea, do you think we should cut down on the size of our Armed Forces or not?"

Statewide
Should cut down 11%
Should not cut down 89%
No opinion
*Less than one-half per cent.

Since 1947, New Jersey Poll surveys have shown that New Jersey voters are overwhelmingly in favor of keeping this nation strong.

And today's statewide results would indicate that there has been no change in New Jersey's thinking on this all-important matter.

IN NEW HOPE COMEDY HIT

Margaret Bannerman

News of the Theatres
BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE
Glad Tidings, the Edward Mabley comedy success of recent Broadway vintage, concludes a week at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope with matinee and evening performances on Saturday. John Morley and Frances Reid are starring in the work about a foreign correspondent who returns home to find himself in domestic troubles.
On Monday, "Gigi" will open as the 13th and next to last production at the barn. Anita Loos adapted Colette's novel of how a young French girl is brought up by her mother, grandmother and great aunt to be a fetching cocotte. Gigi decides to win a marriage proposal from a dashing roue, which the ladies feel is a betrayal of the old "Alliance" tradition.
The sophisticated comedy proved a great success in New York and on the road and catapulted charming Audrey Hepburn to stardom. Betty Bendyk, Miss Hepburn's understudy in both companies, will play the title role in the New Hope version. Doris Patston, who was with the play when it first opened, will be seen as the mother.
Two performers from the road company, Margaret Bannerman and Ronald Telfer, are also in the cast. Miss Bannerman, the noted British actress, will play the great aunt, while Mr. Telfer, who is a member of the resident Playhouse company, will return as Gigi's suitor. Edith Fiske, Sara Seegar and Carl White complete the cast.

PLAYHOUSE
Mr. Scoutmaster (Thurs.-Sat.), starring Clifton Webb, should immediately suggest some of the comic possibilities available when the droll Mr. Webb takes on a pack of energetic young scouts. The comedy also features Edmund Gwenn, Frances Dee and George Winslow, as a particularly pesky cub scout.
The Master of Ballantrae (Sun.-Tues.), is none other than Errol Flynn, fiercely swashbuckling in a vague adaption of the Robert Louis Stevenson novel about the 1745 Scottish Rebellion. The romantic yarn has the dashing Mr. Flynn fighting all over the place and still featuring that ever-ready buss for willing young damisels. Technicolor, Roger Livesey, Anthony Steel, Beatrice Campbell.
Latin Lovers (Wed.-Sat.) The title should give you a fair indication of what to expect from this "lush romance." The ingredients are: Lana Turner, Richard Montalban, John Lund, Rio de Janeiro, some musical numbers, lavish Technicolor, and a dull, trivial plot about a girl with $37,000,000 who thinks that a guy with 48 million is after her dough. So she runs down to Brazil and Montalban for a little of that old tropical ecstasy.

THE GARDEN
Francis Covers the Big Town (Fri.-Sat.) is for the people who enjoy the combined efforts of a certain Francis, the talking mule, and Donald O'Connor in something that might be termed a comedy-melodrama. If a mule feeding news tips to O'Connor can be melodramatic. Complicated shenanigans with Nancy Guild, Yvette Dugay and Gene Lockhart.
Mighty Joe Young (Mon.-Wed.) is a wing-ding of a 1949 film being re-issued. It's filled with completely fantastic stuff about a giant ape loose in Africa and Hollywood. The undeniably lively goings-on should give the older folks some laughs and the kids some excitement. Terry Moore, Ben Johnson, Robert Armstrong and M.J.Y. are featured.

Sports in Princeton

'Round the Corner. It doesn't seem possible but next Wednesday morning 63 young men of assorted shapes and sizes will suddenly materialize from nowhere, will don unseasonably warm orange and black uniforms for the benefit of photographers and two hours later will board buses for a 65-mile trip into the foothills of New Jersey's Kittatinny Mountains.

Thus, will Princeton University launch another football season, its 85th since it helped inoculate the Nation with the annual autumnal madness and its ninth under the direction of Coach Charles W. Caldwell Jr. A long nine-game trail lies ahead and no part of it will be any rockier than the fortnight of pre-season work at the Princeton Summer Camp, near Blairstown, N. J.

Included in the sophomore-heavy group turning to at crack of dawn Thursday for its first work-out will be 16 of last fall's 34 lettermen, headed by Captain-fullback Homer Smith. Twenty-five sophomores will be on hand as will 19 members of each of the two upper classes.

A Look at the Opposition. Any August attempt to evaluate the season-long strength of an Eastern college football team offers about as much chance of success as a place-kicker can expect from outside the 25-yard line. One out of three may be good. With the Ivies continuing their sadly illogical ban on spring practice (based on the theory that if you hamper a player's ability to learn the game, you're taking a major step to prevent its over-phasis), and the rules committee banning two platoons, a pre-season look at probable team strength is unusually undependable.

It might, however, be interesting. Only a short time remains before the Tigers' nine 1953 opponents will gather for two-a-day drills and each set of players and coaches will have their date with the Orange and Black firmly in mind. With a record of 30 victories in its last 31 outings, Princeton is a tremendously desirable target for each of the outfits it will face.

As a group, it is inconceivable that they will not be materially stronger than the nine teams which provided Charlie Caldwell's operatives with an 8-1 mark last fall. Few seasons in the last quarter-century, actually, have seen a poorer composite record for the Tigers' foes.

Five of them (Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth and Lafayette) won a combined total of just eight games—most of the victories in that figure representing triumphs over another member of the group. The first four won two apiece, the hapless Leopards were 0 and 9. From among them, Brown, Cornell and Dartmouth all figure to be materially stronger.

Rutgers, Harvard, Navy and Yale were at or above the .500 mark, with the Elbs soaring to a fine 7-2 record in Jordan Olivar's first year at New Haven. Ability to match last year's performance in each case appears likely, thus confronting the Orange and Black with a considerably stiffer week-to-week schedule than it had in 1952.

Pre-season analysis of each opponent in order of its appearance on the Princeton schedule, with 1952 records in parentheses:

Lafayette (0-9), like at least half of the Tigers' opponents, is counting on a promising sophomore class to furnish most of its improvement. Only a few of the veterans, among them end Jerry Spacek, Princeton High alumnus, figure to keep their berths as the newcomers gain experience. Spring practice also benefited the Leopards, who should make a considerably better showing than last year's 18-0 shellacking.

Columbia (2-6-1) has lost its one-two punch of aerial artist Mitch Price and end Al Ward, plus enough other veterans to make the long-range outlook for Lou Little rather gloomy. But in early October, his team will be much more on a par with Princeton than it would be in November and the undermanned Lions will, in addition, be among the colleges particularly benefitting from the limited substitution rule. Although the Tigers should win without undue pressure, the numerous uncertainties this fall create the possibility of an early-season upset. Last year, it was 14-0.

Rutgers (4-4), another early-season opponent not shackled by the Ivy ban on spring practice, hopes to be ready with an improved offense drawn from the 13 backs among 25 returning lettermen. Like Little, Harvey Harman will find his squad strengthened under the new rules and figures to come a lot

"All I Desire" (Thurs.-Sat.) stars Barbara Stanwyck in a second-rate soap opera about an errant wife who abandons an unsuccessful vaudeville career to return to a stuffy home town, husband and children. New scandal with the "other man" threatens, but everything winds up with a bath of tears and happy marital reunion.

LAMBERTVILLE MUSIC CIRCUS

A Tree Grows in Brooklyn is the attraction at the Music Circus in Lambertville through this Sunday evening. A certain musical comedy going by the name of "Call Me Madam" will move into the tent on Tuesday for a two-week stand ending September 13.

Shirley Booth as Aunt Cissy was one of the chief reasons for the success of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" not long ago on the Broadway stage. Betty Smith, who authored the novel, did the book for the show while the music and lyrics are by Arthur Schwartz and Dorothy Fields.

Connie Sawyer, night club and light opera entertainer, plays Aunt Cissy in the current Music Circus version. Evelyn Ward and Warde Donovan are cast as Katy and Johnny Nolan, and Lee Davis is Uncle Harry and Patience Jarvis plays Frankie.

Incidental intelligence that arrived too late for publication last week: The revamped work, Offenbach's "Orpheus in the Underworld" lost its original title, too, at the Music Circus. New monicker: "To Hell with Orpheus."

closer to the Tigers than last year's 61-19 drubbing. While his outfit will be going all out against the primary target on its schedule, Princeton faces the natural hazard of looking ahead to Navy and Cornell.

Navy (6-2-1) will furnish Caldwell's crew with the first big test of the season. Even by the fourth contest of the campaign, the Tigers will not have been able to offset the middies' advantage of spring practice and a big, rugged line, anchored by All-American guard Steve Eisenhauer, will test Princeton's running game to the utmost.

Pre-season dope figures the Annapolis entry as a good bet to top every team on its schedule save Notre Dame and possibly Princeton. The Orange and Black will have its hands full battling against this possibility in what shapes up as one of the East's top games of 1953. No meeting between the two last year; in '51, it was Princeton, 24-20.

Cornell (2-7), bent on recovering from its worst season in nearly two decades, seems ready to do so. Graduation losses were relatively light and behind a veteran line from tackle to tackle, several fast and able sophomores should be ready to go by mid-season. Lefty James needs to develop a T quarterback to spark his offense but 6-1, 197-lb. Billy De Graaf, who hails from George Sella's home town, may be the guy to do it.

Only weak Columbia and disappointing Dartmouth fell before the Red last year, with Princeton winning much as it pleased, 27-0. This season, the Ithacans hit the Tigers right after Navy, and figure to hit them hard.

Brown (2-7) virtually shelved its chances for success last season before practice began by declaring 11 sophomores ineligible for receiving unapproved financial assistance. That group and an unbeaten freshman team are now ready and rarin' to give the Bruins their first good season in the last six.

The Rhode Islanders will be much better — it was 39-0 against them in last year's lackluster contest — and like any team on the Tiger schedule, save Lafayette, could trip the Orange and Black on a bad Princeton day. It has, however, been five years or more since Princeton has played poor late-season football.

Harvard (5-4) is tabbed as the coming Ivy League team of '55. Even the academic standards have been slightly altered at Cambridge to help the Crimson return to the heights it knew in the '20's and again in the late '30's. This season, a dangerous attack will be sparked by tailback Dick Clashy and 215-lb. fullback John Culver, while 150-lb. Carroll Lowenstein, a needle-threading passer, is back from service for spot action.

Already much better than it was before he came two years ago, Harvard football under Lloyd Jordan still has a way to go. The only single wing foe on the Tigers' 1953 schedule will, however, be ready to make plenty of trouble for them in their lone venture away from the familiar Palmer Stadium surroundings.

Yale (7-2) will give an interesting demonstration of how a team whose two-platoon offense, built largely around one small man, can convert to two-way play. Ed Mulloy's passing was responsible for much of the Elis' success last year, but he is around 5-10 and 155 and may not be able to double on defense this season.

The Elis are also confronted with the fact that theirs was one of the East's poorest freshman teams —Continued on Page 17

(winless in seven games). Even in the face of Molloy's questionable lasting ability and a lack of sophomore strength, however, the Blue will be a major Ivy power. If it can get by improved Cornell and Dartmouth, only Princeton will bar it from its first unbeaten season in more than 25 years. The 1952 melodrama was 27-21 for the Tigers.

Dartmouth (2-7), in direct contrast to Yale last year, had one of the best freshman teams in New England. Graduation losses left big gaps at guard and tackle, but there are clear indications that the Indians will have a solid November ball team.

Last year, the Green's mediocre season was concluded with a 33-0 defeat in Palmer Stadium. It was Dartmouth's worst beating here in 15 years, and isn't likely soon to be repeated. The peak that Princeton naturally reaches for Yale must be clearly maintained to handle the New Hampshire entry this fall.

Play-Offs Ahead. The championship play-offs in both of Princeton's "major leagues", the American and National circuits, are scheduled to get under way early next week — the actual date depending upon the completion of three postponed contests in the former and one in the National.

While there can be no question about the top squads, Nassau Social in the National and Teague's in the American, the order-of-finish could easily be juggled by the results of the make-up games. At this writing the National's 2-3-4 order is Artistic Clippers, National Guard and E.T.S. Their American League counterparts, also in descending order, are Sportsmen, Eagles and Gallup and Robinson.

All-Time Record (?). In looking ahead to the championship play-offs and the Benefit Tripleheader on University Field Saturday, September 5th, Figger Filberts have dug down into the past and have reached the conclusion that the National League's admirably balanced championship team, the Nassau Social Club, has written a new chapter into Princeton athletic history by winning 38 games in a row.

The 38th successive triumph in a string that stretches back some two and one-half years was achieved at the expense of the Artistic Clippers, who succumbed, 13-2, in the face of a 13-hit barrage.

The big factor in the Social Club's "March to victory" has been the sensational pitching of the veteran Huck McCreedy, undefeated in two seasons of tough competition and now the owner of a skein of 32 consecutive wins. This summer McCreedy has won all 15 of his team's games, working 94 innings, striking out 85 and yielding 25 runs.

McCreedy's able supporting cast has included: Bobby Ceraso, Buck Cupples, Jack Sweeney, Jack Petrone, Billy Mitchell, Bob DiGivoni, Tim Harris, Gene Pierrie, Howie Cupples, Art Gallant, and "Bip" Davison.
